WELCOME visitors! St. Edmund Campion missals/hymnals are available in the back of the church. At the traditional Mass, Holy Communion is received on the tongue, and kneeling, if possible. There no need to respond 'Amen'. Chapel veils to borrow are available in the foyer of the church. If you would like to register to join the community, fill out a census form, found on the table in the back of the church, and turn in to Fr. Magiera.*

Religious Instruction for the First Communicants today. Adult catechism resumes tomorrow April 20.

Thanks to all who participated in last Sunday's brunch hosted by the Carr family. The children had a great time at the Easter Egg Hunt thanks to the young adults who hid the eggs and kept the children (somewhat) organized by age group. We also celebrated Father Magiera's birthday a few days early as he had to leave for his priests' meeting in Nebraska.

First Friday and First Saturday Devotions will be held as usual on May 1 and May 2. (They were canceled in April due to Holy Week services)

Save the date! We will be celebrating Fr. Magiera's 10th anniversary to the priesthood on Sunday, May 24 after the 11:00 am Mass. All are invited to attend. If you have contact with former members of our community, invite them to come back for this event. We are planning a big celebration with Italian cuisine and live entertainment. Contact Kathy Nauman (749-7004) if you would like to donate food or help in the kitchen.

Annual Rummage Sale: Due to a schedule conflict with St. Patrick, we cannot have the rummage Sale in May as planned. We are still asking for donations which can be brought to Mass on Sundays and put in our storage room.

Maintenance Coordinator – Immaculate Heart of Mary Church in Marche is looking for someone to do plumbing, electric, mechanical and other maintenance work such as setting up for events, and perform lawn care. Email cover letter and resume to Fr. T J Hart at frhart@ihmnlr.org.

Dear Community Members,

Greetings from Waverly, Nebraska. The FSSP priest meeting is taking place at Our Lady of Good Counsel Retreat House. This retreat house, though not very beautiful was built somewhere in the 50s, I'd guess. The chapel isn't bad as it has retained its original chapel configuration. Oh, there's the normal "ad populum" altar, but the nice thing is that the side altars are still there for multiple, simultaneous, private Masses. There are three altars on the north wall, three on the south wall. So, you can imagine that all of these altars are getting a good work out every morning.

Many, perhaps even most, churches in Europe, usually large ones, had multiple side altars. The tragedy is that now, though the altars are still there, they're usually stripped and unused, and very often serve no other purpose than to support potted plants. Of course, some of the basilicas still have side altars, or small chapels that are used, but even there, one will encounter little else but shrines to "Saint Palmetto," "Saint Ficus," or even more unfortunately, "Saint Banner of the Felt." The only exception I encountered was the FSSP church in Rome. All altars in that church are dressed and prepared for Mass.

I drove up to Nebraska with my friend, Father Define, from Tulsa. I traveled to Tulsa Sunday afternoon, spent the night, and then he and I went on to Nebraska Monday. We'll reverse the sequence Thursday, and I'll be back and ready to go on Friday.

It's been many years since I attended a priest meeting, so it's about time I showed up. You know, when the seminary in Nebraska "opened," we seminarians had to spend a month or so at this same place, the retreat house, as our rooms weren't ready to be occupied. Yes, those first years at the seminary were pretty tough. For the longest time, we had no community chapel, so, when we finally did move into our rooms, we had to get into vans twice a day and drive into Lincoln to have Lauds, Mass, and then Vespers and Compline at St. Francis Church. It was a happy day for us when we finally got a chapel. Funny, there were actually three "temporary" chapels at the seminary before THE Chapel was completed. I'll tell you all about it when I see you again, my children and my friends.
