Dear Community Members,

It's hard to believe that the first day of Summer begins tomorrow, 20 June at 6:34 PM. This is also known as the "Summer Solstice." Tomorrow is the longest day of the year.

I say all of this, first of all, to ask the rhetorical question, "just where has the time gone? Didn't we just celebrate Easter last week?" To be honest, I'd be hard pressed to believe that Summer didn't actually start sometime in March this year. It certainly has been hot enough for weeks and weeks already, it seems. I keep telling myself, "relax, you'll get used to the heat." Well, I'm still waiting.

Well, what a wonderful day it was last Sunday. Pomp and Circumstance, a "First Mass" – and what a splendid Mass it was – and a final brunch reception, at least in the hall until September. My thanks to everyone who made last Sunday a success, first of all to the wonderful Handmaids, but, of course, also to the choir, schola, servers and Knights of Columbus. A special thank you also to Mr. Robert Clayton, who stalwartly and forthrightly carried on despite the tragedy of his mother's passing.

We all congratulate Father Edward Brodsky and thank him for celebrating Mass for us. We wish him well in his new assignment and we are confident that his will be a bright and fruitful priesthood.

Father Orlowski spent last week in Denton, NE at Our Lady of Guadalupe Seminary. He decided, rather suddenly to go to Nebraska for the priests' retreat. This year, His Excellency Bishop Bruskewitz, Bishop Emeritus of Lincoln, preached the retreat. I have much to thank His Excellency for. He gave me all of my minor orders and ordained me to the subdiaconate and diaconate.

This reminds me that I have to make plans for my own retreat this year. I have a few options: I've never been to Clear Creek, so that's a possibility. The end of the year priests' retreat in Bloomington has always been a highlight for me. Perhaps I'll travel there.

Finally, I give y'all a friendly reminder that our Patronal Feast, the Nativity of St. John the Baptist is Friday, 24 June. Father Orlowski will celebrate a Mass at 7:15 AM. I will celebrate Mass at the Cavin estate at 3:00 PM. Mass will be followed by wonderful festivities, food and fun. I hope that all of you, or, at least, as many as possible, make the trip to Mr. and Mrs. Earnie Cavin's place. It's important celebrations like this that cement us together as a real community, my children and my friends.

Father Magiera
